I need a lie down

I feel so uninspired ^{only just got up}

I feel like giving up

I feel like someone has punched me ^{in the guts}

I kinda feel it

CAUSE

FEELS LIKE IT BEING IN LOVE

I do not feel too great I cannot concentrate
I cannot sleep
I lost my appetite
The world is upside down
AND I WOULD KILL

I love you.

Even when You struggle

Mitch

to love your self. I love you. You're a really sweet heart you know that? You don't have to struggle alone. Also this beat is so fucking good. I love you, you my little goatball.

There's definitely an inclination in there. Some sort of desire. It could be you want to make something or you want some type of recognition of skill. Either way, something is there. You have friends. They facilitate this. You play together. You can "play an instrument." But only they can "make music." You watch them write their parts. You wait for yours to be written. They have something inside them emerging through their instruments. As you look inside yourself, you realize you are fundamentally different. There isn't anything there. They have the inclination as well, and it is a tree with great roots reaching into something magical in their psyche. Yours is not like that. Yours is artificial. It is a manhole cover hiding a deep hole. That void where your heart should be. You don't know when it left you. Perhaps that's the part that scares you the most.

Why Does the College Ave Bus Lane Exist?

1. Speeds up bus travel times
 2. Lets buses pass by car traffic
 3. Gives a better ride experience for Rutgers students who rely on buses to get everywhere

Why it doesn't work!

1. Too narrow

How to Make CA a better road?

1. widen bus lane so it can fit one(1) bus
2. Take away one lane of the bike path. The one that goes towards the Yard
3. This space is what allows the bus lane to be widened! (Bikes can use the bus lane, if they're going towards the yard. It's downhill, too!)
